

There are angels in the Heavens, there are angels on the ground. There are angels all around you, just waiting to be found. So when you are feeling lonely or just a little blue, open your eyes to see the angels, they are there waiting for you. Don't forget about these angels during all of your good times too, for they like to share your happiness and the joys that come to you. They will wrap their wings around you to protect and guide you through all sad and tragic moments that this life can throw at you. They are sent to you from Heaven from our father up above, so remember to look for the angels, they'll show you and your family all God's Love.
