ANDREWS, BELLE MRS.	Lamar Democrat, July 16, 1891 On the morning of the 7 th of July about 11 o'clock the body of Mrs. Belle Andrews was found hanging in the buggy house on the Swell farm in Nashville township. A number of witnesses were examined and none knew of any trouble the woman had had, or had ever heard her hint at suicide. She was first discovered by one of the farm hands, who heard her child crying and went to the house to see what was wrong. She had used a pair of check lines to accomplish her purpose and when found her feet touched the ground. Five or six persons were present when the body was taken down. The inquest showed no cause for the rash action of the unfortunate woman. We have learned that when the women of the neighborhood assembled to prepare the body, they found bruises and marks on her arms, hips, and back, and some of the neighbors are much dissatisfied about the matter.

APPLEBY, BEN	Lamar Democrat, September 10, 1891 Lon Williamson of Golden City informed us of the death of Uncle Ben Appleby at his home in Ash Grove. He was a pioneer of this county. He built the first store in Golden City and owned the first stock of goods.

The deceased was born in Fairfield county, Ohio, May 3rd, 1836. She with her husband and family lived in Ohio till the fall of 1870, when they moved to this state, where she resided until her death. Mrs. Bowlby was converted at the age of 13 and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church and lived a humble, consistent member till death. Funeral preached from residence, November 11, at 2 p.m. by T. G. Hendrix.
BRADSTREET, SAMUEL Y.	Lamar Democrat, August 13, 1891 Died last Sunday morning, August 9, 1891, Samuel Y. Bradstreet, at his home in the east part of the city after a lingering illness of some weeks. We learn that during his last sickness he many times expressed himself as ready and anxious to go. Not withstanding he was well cared for during his sickness, it was sad to see an old man, aged 71 years, 11 months, and 1 day, as he was, sicken and die and be buried without a relative present. We understand his nearest relatives are an aged brother, who resides in Ohio and a niece whose place of residence we do not know. Mr. Bradstreet came from Iowa to this city four years ago. Since then he has lost his wife

	and a married stepdaughter and a step grandchild. While residing at Monticello, Iowa he was mayor of that town. He was a relative we think, a 1st cousin, to Bradstreet, founder and manager of Bradstreet Commerical Agency so well known to businessmen all over the United States. His funeral was held last Tuesday morn.
BRICKER, LEWIS	Lamar Democrat, December 31, 1891 Died at his home in Minden, on December 21st, little Lewis Bricker, son of C. L. and Cora Bricker, aged 1 year, 4 months, and 20 days, and was buried at the Mulberry Cemetery on the 23rd.
BRIGGS, DAUGHTER	Lamar Democrat, April 2, 1891 We regret to learn of the death of the daughter of Philip Briggs. She was 19 years of age, but has been an invalid for a long time. The family live south of Iantha.
BRITSCH. S. MRS.	Lamar Democrat, December 24, 1891 Mrs. S. Britsch, aged 49 years, died on the 19th inst. Her remains were taken to Lindel, Indiana for interment.

BROWN, CHARLES H.	Lamar Democrat, October 22, 1891 Died, Wednesday October 14th, 1891, Charles H. Brown aged 49 years, 3 months, and 11 days. The announcement of his death was not a surprise, as Mr. Brown had been seriously ill for some weeks and in bad health for many months. He was a pioneer to Barton county having come here in 1866. Mr. Brown was born in Albany, New York on July 3rd, 1842 and received an academic education at Fredonia, New York. After that he attended Bryant and Staltons Mercantile College, at Buffalo, and graduated in 1861. He then attended law school at Chicago and graduated there in July 1863. He immediately entered upon his chosen profession at Monmouth, Illinois where he remained until February 1866, at which time he came to Lamar where he has lived ever since. He began his practice of law here and formed a partnership with W. H. Avery. They were faced by circumstances to open a bank for the transaction of their business. The banking house formed then is still known as C. H. Brown Banking Company. He was married July 14, 1869, to Miss Emma Wills, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Wills. There were three children born to the marriage, Charles Brown, Miss Daisy Brown, and the youngest son Dick Brown. He was a prominent and influential republican in the county and state, and represented this county in the legislatures for two years. He was elected county attorney for this county. He filled both offices with credit. His banking business has occupied most of his time for the past 20 years. He is half owner in the beautiful Opera House, also interested in the Post Office building; the present banking building, has improved farms in the county and has largely been instrumental in the upbuilding of this city. He leaves a wife and 3 children and they are well provided for. Mr. Brown was not selfish as many men of wealth are. Many poor families in Lamar received necessities of life paid for by him, when the recipients were ignorant of the donor. His death is a loss to our city and our county. His funeral was
---------------------------------	--

	largely attended and it is said it was the largest ever in Lamar. Rev. C. C. Young of the Baptist Church preached the funeral. He was buried at Lake Cemetery.

	Arkansas. He came to Lamar about a week ago with a young lady, whom he said was his wife. On Monday he came from Milford alone and was preparing to go to Springfield when Deputy Sheriff B. B. Boston arrested him on the strength of a letter just received from Howell county stating that young Evans had eloped with a young girl and was wanted for some crime. Mr. Boston says he searched him and found an ugly looking knife that he took away from him but found no other weapons. As soon as he was in jail he wrote a few sentences on a slip of paper and got his pistol, a Colt 45 and put the barrel in his mouth and fired. His father Squire Evans was notified by telegraph. On Tuesday afternoon the young lady who says she was lawfully married to young Evans, came to Lamar and her burden of sorrow is very great. On Wednesday morning it was learned from both Mr. Evans and Mr. Wright, the father of the young lady, that young Evans had forged a note for $75.00 and got the money at the West Plains Bank. It was this matter that caused him to commit the rash act.

SAYRE, SPENCER	Lamar Democrat, July 16, 1891 On Tuesday morning about 10:30, Spencer Sayre fell dead from a stroke of paralysis just as he crossed the Gulf Railroad track south of the Lamar Iron Foundry. His body was taken to the undertaker's office of the Adams Hardware and Furniture Company and there prepared for burial. Mr. Sayre was a very quiet gentleman and cared but little for company, preferring to live alone. He was born in Virginia on January 25th, 1818, and at the age of 12 years came with the family to Iroquois county, Illinois. He lived there till 1877, when he went with a part of the family to Deadwood, Dakota, and to Spokane Falls, and remained there about 3 years. From there he came to Barton county and has lived here since. He has seven children living, 5 girls and 2 boys. Three of his daughters are living in this county, Mrs. Sturdevant, Mrs. Davis, and Mrs. J. M. Dye. Mr. Sayre suffered from two strokes of paralysis prior to this, and his daughters who were anxious for him to live with them, were fearful of the fate that has so suddenly befallen him. He was much respected as a citizen attending
